Topic 3. Helping Women To Be Blessed By What Our Father Has Taught Me

- What is your normal tendency when trials arise in your life, especially in your marriage?

- Can you stay focused on YOURSELF until God completes His work in you? Yes or no? If no, what distracts you from all that He would accomplish in you during His refining process?

- Do YOU display affectionate deference toward your husband? Yes or no? If no, why don't you?

- If you answered yes, ask your husband if he lives with any apprehension about you. If so, ask him for specific areas.

- Describe how you respond when your husband hurts your feelings.

- Do you ever find yourself so busy helping people outside your family that your husband or kids feel like second-class citizens? Are you willing to be changed?

- Have you ever reduced your affection to control your husband?

- Do your children receive more attentive love than your husband does?

- You may not consider yourself idolatrous, but do you REALLY trust and obey the One True God Who has revealed Himself in His Word and by His Spirit?

- Are you at peace with God and what is going on around you?

- Do you walk with a quiet spirit that pleases our Lord Jesus in relationship to your husband? Or, do your control and manipulation cause your family to fear getting on the wrong side of you?

- Do YOU try to manipulate your own way because you think you know what's best? Are you overlooking our Father's plan of male headship in the process?

- Do you find intercourse with your husband an intimate expression of your loving gratefulness for him?

- Is intimacy a renewal of your marriage covenant for you?

- Think about when YOUR husband is undergoing difficulty or stress. Does anything in your life override affectionate interaction with him?

- Do you have another woman who can speak correction into your live? Yes or no? If no, why don't you?

- Who displaces your husband in the affection realm? Is your affection unconditional, or does it depend on how you think he'll react? What would Jesus do?

- How would you respond to a mother who wants to stay at home with her children but feels they can't make it on just her husband's salary?
